This Yakuti or life-giving nectar has been prepared from the best, choicest and richest vegetable drugs. It has a wonderful property of increasing the nerve power and is specific for diseases. This valuable medicine is used in large quantities among Rajas, Maharajas and many of our esteemed customers. But we have ventured to give it publication simply with a view to place it before the general public owing to the demand of several friends. It is needless to expatiate upon the magical qualities of this our invaluable medicine. We would not like to blow the trumpet as is the fashion of the day, but suffice it to say that the use of this medicine is recommended to those who have any faith in the efficacy of Ayurvedic and Unani persons who desire to tone up the nervous medicines. We recommend it also to those system, to strengthen the body refresh the memory and to guard against debility. It works like a charm and the effect is lasting. It restores strength and it is enough to say that musk is not that which a perfumer admires, it is that which diffuses fragrance of its own accord. Price per tin containing 40 pils. Rupees ten only. STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The following information is published in order that vessels in the Bombay Harbour may by comparison with a standard instrument ascertain the errors of their barometers:—

The reading of the Standard Barometer in the Colaba Observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 80 deg. F. and to the level of the tide, at 8.45 a.m., Standard Time on the 14th July 1916 was 29.906 inches. For temperature corrections applicable to mercurial barometer of ships the reading of the ships' barometer has to be increased or decreased by .031 inch for every 5 degrees according as the temperature of the attached thermometer is respectively below or above 80 deg. F. In case of the aneroid no temperature correction is needed. But for comparison at 80 deg. F. all aneroid readings should be increased by .138 inch. For correcting the ship's barometer either mercurial or aneroid for the height of the barometer cistern above the tide level in the stream at 8-45 a.m. Standard Time, the ship's barometer reading should be increased by .010 inch for every 10 feet of the height to make it comparable with the observatory barometer reading given.

NO MORE THIN PEOPLE.

HOW THIN MEN AND WOMEN CAN PUT ON FLESH QUICKLY.

There are many thin people, ladies especially, who long to increase their weight, yet imagine they can only do so by physical exercise or stuffing themselves with food—but poor health and small appetite will not allow of these methods. Generally speaking, however, such people cannot become plump and well developed in this way, they are thin and unhealthy because they do not assimilate the proper proportion of the food they eat. To these we strongly advise the use of Phormoid, a highly concentrated food product possessing remarkable properties for increasing the power of assimilation by feeding and strengthening the nerve tissues. Simply get a supply of the standard 20 grain tablets from your chemist and eat one tablet before each meal. Your appetite will quickly improve—you will have a pleasant feeling of renewed vitality and fitness for work and pleasure, and your weight will increase with astonishing rapidity.

Caution to Ladies.—Thin ladies who object to an increased bust development should not take Phormoid as it generally develops the bust from three to four inches in a few weeks.

Suffering Womanhood.

Most women suffer—some more than others—during some periods of their lives. Most of this suffering is unnecessary and is, in many cases, due solely to kidney or bladder trouble—nothing more. The climate, of course, considerably affects the action of the kidneys to their detriment. So does the "drinking water" and method of living. But with it all the majority of people are not at all sure as to how kidney trouble can be recognised. Here are some of the symptoms: Aches and pains in various parts of the body, especially in the back; puffiness under the eyes; nasty taste in the mouth first thing in the morning, bladder weakness with gravel and burning internal pain; a feeling of irritability and lassitude.

People who suffer from rheumatism, sciatica, gravel, stone, gout, backache, cystitis (inflammation of the bladder) or pains in the muscles and joints, are all suffering these pains through weak or disordered kidneys, for these are the symptoms of kidney trouble.

De Witt's Kidney and Bladder Pills give wonderful relief by going direct to the kidneys, instead of passing through the bowels, as most kidney pills do. When you see the urine turn to a peculiar muddy, bluish colour, you have it proved beyond all doubt that this remedy has touched the weakened spot—the kidneys and the bladder. De Witt's Kidney and Bladder Pills are on sale everywhere in India at Rs.2 and Rs.3.8. Or direct from E. C. De Witt and Co., Ltd., P.O. Box 305, Bombay, or P.O. Box 216, Calcutta, or P.O. Box 226, Madras.

Those desirous of testing De Witt's Pills can do so by sending As. 2 in stamps. This trial size box will be sufficient to prove that De Witt's Kidney and Bladder Pills do give quick relief and that they do pass right through the kidneys and bladder, and not through the bowels, as most kidney pills do. This is what differentiates De Witt's from all others.

De Witt's Kidney and Bladder Pills,

while so searching and penetrating in their effects, contain no poisons or harmful ingredients. They are guaranteed to be positively harmless to the most delicate man, woman or child. They are made and packed by machinery, and are untouched by human hands.

PIECE-GOODS.

The Cloth Market has remained firm during the past week and prices for favourite qualities of Grey and White Shirtings have hardened, owing to speculative demand among dealers in the bazaar. The up-country enquiry has been featureless, but it is anticipated that good demand will be forthcoming as the markets there are depleted of stocks.

The monsoon season is now in full swing and good reports of rainfall have been received from some districts. The deliveries all round have been satisfactory. Fair shipments of various goods have arrived during the week against May-June contracts. The Manchester Market, remains steady. The ups and downs in American Cotton rates have had very little effect upon quotations in cloths which remain firm. There is little to report in the way of actual business done, as cautious buyers are scarcely prepared to pay the high prices which now rule. Weaving districts which produce Fancies and specialities are doing better than those manufacturers who make ordinary Grey staples.

GREYS.

In Grey Shirtings some activity is noticeable among local dealers and several lots of standard makes have changed hands in the bazaar at higher prices. 45in. and 38in. Red End Grey Shirtings have appreciated in value by two annas per piece. Owing to the scarcity of 44in.x38½ yards styles, the rates of these shirtings have gone up to Rs. 6-14-0 per piece. Some fresh business is reported to have been placed in small lines in low quality shirtings Nos. 666 and 107 for August-September shipments at a penny per piece advance on last purchase limits. Local prices for these are firm at present, but goods against May shipment have commenced to arrive, and it is feared that the high rates now ruling will not be maintained when sufficient quantity arrives. Besides it is reported that a local Mill has recently booked No. "107" Grey Shirtings of better quality at two annas per piece less than the rate at which business has recently been done in Manchester. Standard Grey Jacconets have further advanced in value by one anna per piece owing to supplies being short. Low class Grey Mulls are very firm. Grey Dhooties have remained steady at last rates, but the demand is very poor. Grey Drills shew some improvement. There is a good demand for Japanese Grey Drills under "Elephant" stamp. English and Japanese Khakhi Drills are also in better request and fair sales have been made by dealers. 36in.x30 yards Japanese Grey Sheetings of Kanegafuchi Spinning and Weaving Mills are selling well and the present price in the bazaar is Rs. 6-12-0 per piece.

WHITES.

The inquiry in White Shirtings has not been quite so extensive as in the previous week and some falling off in the turnover has been recorded. Many dealers who have recently operated more freely in the bazaar now seem disposed to rest awhile. Owing to the firm position of the market here, samples of stock lots of White Shirtings worth from Rs. 7 to Rs. 8 per piece have been received from Amritsar by a Bombay Firm, with a view to take advantage of the high prices now ruling for such styles here. A lot of 45in.x40 yards White Shirtings has been sold at Rs. 10-4-0 in the bazaar. White Shirtings K. B. 100 and No. 151 have considerably advanced in prices, which have touched Rs. 10-12-0 and Rs. 10-4-0 respectively, after the goods had been sold several times over. In White Nainsooks the lower qualities are in better request. Some scarcity is felt in wide width Nainsooks for which there is good enquiry and some forward business is said to have been placed at high prices. The rates for White Mulls remain unchanged with little doing. Some weak sellers who had previously bought from the bazaar Red End White Mulls, 58in.x20 yards, of a leading firm at Rs. 4-2-6 per piece are ready to sell off their purchases at an anna per piece less than the price ruling at present in the market, in order to secure their profits. 41in.x10 yards White Muslins have appreciated in value to a great extent, the original price of Rs. 1-14-0 having gone up to Rs. 2-12-0 per piece. White Dhooties are selling well, but fresh business is not possible owing to very high prices quoted on the other side.

LOCAL PIECE-GOODS.

There has been good enquiry for local piece-goods and clearances have been on a fair scale. A large Bombay Mill has sold 4,000 packages of Grey Shirtings in different widths at prices ranging from 10⅜ to 11½ annas per lb. for delivery extending to the end of the year. This Mill has also sold 200 bales White Shirtings 35in.x40 yards 8 lbs. in weight, at Re. 1 per lb. for the Persian Gulf. This price shews a large profit to the Mill, as the actual cost of the piece would hardly amount to a little over Rs. 5. Taking the cloth in the Grey state and allowing 2 lbs. for sizing, the remaining 6 lbs. at say 11 annas per lb. would cost Rs. 4-2-0 and adding say a rupee for the cost of bleaching, the price would come to Rs. 5-2-0 per piece, whereas the sale has been made at Rs. 8. But it seems that this high price has been realised owing to lack of competition with other Mills.

LANCASHIRE YARNS.

There has been some activity in the yarn market and local rates have advanced due to light stocks. Owing to the strong position of the Home Market, it is anticipated that values will improve further in face of good demand. Fresh business has not resulted as spinners are firm, owing largely to forced restrictions of output on account of shortage of labour and owing to the recent advance of 5 per cent. in wages of spinning operatives. Lancashire Water Twist Grey Yarns are quoted as under:—

30s. "Queen" Ticket	Re. 1-0-0 per lb.
30s. Ordinary qualities	Re. 0-13-3 per lb.
40s. "Cat's Head" Ticket	Re. 1-1-6 per lb.
40s Ordinary qualities	Re. 0-15-6 per lb.

COPPER AND YELLOW METAL.

51 tons decrease is shewn on the Chamber's list and the stock stands at 2,796 tons which can be regarded as a fairly big stock and till this stock decreases there is no prospect of a rise in the market. In yellow metal the Chamber's list shows a decrease of 1 ton and the stock is 1,137 tons.

TIMBER.

Buyers are not inclined to operate freely as they cannot get space for their requirements in steamers. Business is only booked if buyers take the risk of a rise in freight and some business in scantling is reported. Some firms have sold beams at a sacrifice of their commission but big dealers are not inclined to buy even at this price in face of big stocks and low prices ruling on the market. It is reported that the Orissa will begin loading in Rangoon on the [illegible] instant. The Singoporean has arrived with [illegible] cargo for a firm and two other boats are shortly expected which has affected prices. Demand for their class of timber has fallen off. Japanese boards are enquired after but prices are still too high to admit of business.

RICE.

Favourable monsoon reports have caused a decline in prices and Rangoon prices have also declined by Rs. 5. No business is reported.

SUGAR MARKET REPORT.

The new crop Java sugar has commenced to arrive and about 83,000 bags have arrived per s. s. Dogra and Pasha and with the continual easier advices from Karachi and Java our market ruled quieter during the week and prices both for ready and forward have been reduced by 4d. to 6d. per cwt. all round. A fair quantity has changed hands amongst dealers in White Java, July-September from at 22s. 10d. to 22s. 6d. F. B. Harbour. Some native speculators have sold T. M. O. October December at 22s. 10d. F. B. Harbour against the Java quotation of 23s. 6d. F. B. Harbour, Java market is reported rather easier without any business passing There is no news from Mauritius.

The following are the bazar rates and stocks:—

T. M. O. Rs. 19-0-0 is equal to 22s. 6d. F. B. Harbour stocks 80,000 bags.

Brown Rs. 17-12-0 is equal to 20s. 8d. F. B. Harbour stocks 3,000 bags.

Soft Java Rs. 18-8-0 is equal to 21s. 8d. F. B. Harbour stocks 5,000 bags.

TEXAS CO'S CLAIM AGAINST BOMBAY BANKING CO.

APPEAL DISMISSED.

(Before the Chief Justice and Justice Heaton.)

THE TEXAS COMPANY...Appellants and Plaintiffs.

v/s

THE BOMBAY BANKING CO., AND ANOTHER.....

Respondents and Defendants.

This was an appeal from the judgment of the Hon. Mr. Justice Beaman, dismissing the plaintiffs' suit with costs. The full facts of the case as well as the contentions of the parties appear from the judgment of their Lordships given below:—

In the month of October 1912 a sum of Rs. 20,000 was raised from the Specie Bank in Bombay on the security of Calcutta Port Trust bonds of the nominal value of Rs. 20,000. The money so raised was paid on the 18th of October to one Kothavle, Managing Agent of the defendant Bank. On the 19th of October a cheque for Rs. 30,000 was drawn upon the account of P. B. Vaidya in the Calcutta branch of the Indian Specie Bank and endorsed in blank and handed to the said Kothavle as the defendants' manager. On the 22nd and 29th of October respectively by cheques for Rs. 2,000 and Rs. 3,000 drawn upon the said account in the said bank in Calcutta the said sums were obtained by the defendant bank. On the 30th of October by cheque for Rs. 5,000 drawn on the account of P. B. Vaidya in the Calcutta branch of the Eastern Bank the said sum was similarly obtained by the defendant bank.

On the 22nd February, 1913, by a cheque in its favour drawn on the account of P. B. Vaidya in the Calcutta branch of the Indian Specie Bank, the defendant bank received a further sum of Rs. 5,000. The defendant bank went into liquidation on the 1st of November, 1913. The plaintiff company claims the whole of the said sums as against the creditors of the defendant bank as having been held by Vaidya for the plaintiff company in a fiduciary capacity and as having been received by the defendant company with notice that the said money was so held.

The plaintiffs are a company dealing in oil. Vaidya was their agent for the sale of oil in Calcutta and certain surrounding districts. For the purposes of this judgment we may take it to be the law that the sale proceeds of the principal's goods would be held by the agent for sale in a fiduciary capacity subject to any agency lien which he could establish under section 217 of the Contract Act. See Foley v. Hill 2 H L Co. that in the agents' insolvency the principal could follow such sale proceeds notwithstanding the claims of other creditors. See especially Cooke v. Strachan 4 Ch. D. 123; and that any other person receiving such sale proceeds with notice of the principal's interest and of breach of the agents' trust would not, nor would his creditors, stand in any better position than the agent.

AGENCY BUSINESS.

By his agency agreement Vaidya agreed to remit to the plaintiff all sale proceeds of oil immediately the sale proceeds became due. In practice Vaidya appointed a number of sub-agents for the sale of the plaintiff's oil and took from them deposits as security for the fulfilment of their obligations to him. The plaintiffs had no communications with the sub-agents, Vaidya's agency in Calcutta was managed by his clerk Manerikar and moneys received in connection with the oil business whether as sale proceeds or as deposits from sub-agents were banked in one or other of two accounts of Vaidya in the Calcutta branches of the Indian Specie and the Eastern Bank. It is also proved that some of the money derived from the business was invested in Calcutta Port Trust bonds of the nominal value of Rs. 20,000. The undertaking to remit all sale proceeds to the plaintiffs as soon as they became due was not observed in practice but both the plaintiffs and Vaidya kept ledger accounts in which records of their mutual financial position in relation to Vaidya's agency were kept.

LEDGER ACCOUNT OF THE AGENT.

The ledger account of Vaidya in the plaintiff's books shows that up to the 12th of October, 1912, he owed to the plaintiffs on account of a debit balance from the previous months and of sales of the plaintiffs' goods up to the 12th of October Rs. 21,731. On the 13th of October his indebtedness was increased to Rs. 22,098. Vaidya's ledger containing the plaintiffs account is more loosely kept and it does not show as does the plaintiffs' ledger the state of the account from day to day. It gives the cash received for sale proceeds in October as Rs. 21,866, which is within a few rupees of the total result from the plaintiffs' account for October under the same head. Vaidya was at this time the senior partner in the firm of Apte & Co., the managing agents of the defendant bank. He was on his way back for a visit to England. About the 6th of October a run began on the defendant bank which ended on the 11th or 12th October. During the run Rs. 3,75,000 were paid out and more money was urgently needed to carry on business and meet liabilities. Vaidya had two or three accounts with the bank upon which he was indebted to an extent exceeding 3 lakhs.

On the 14th of October on the suggestion of Manerikar, the Calcutta manager of Vaidya's agency for sale of the plaintiff's oil, Kothavle carried a sum of Rs. 23,035-8-4 to credit of a new account opened in the name of Vaidya Texas Company in the defendant company's books and debited the personal account of Vaidya with the same amount. On the 18th of October Vaidya landed in Bombay and was at once pressed by Kothavle to help the defendant bank. Vaidya then aided by Manerikar paid into the defendant bank, by one or other of the means mentioned at the beginning of our judgment, Rs. 60,000. Kothavle says Vaidya told him that the money came from his rock-oil business and that as far as he knew the money belonged to Vaidya.

TO WHOM THE MONEY BELONGED.

The important question for us is whether it belonged to the plaintiffs. It is established by the evidence that the sums to the credit of the banking accounts in Calcutta were except as to Rs. 1,029 composed of moneys received by Vaidya in connection with his oil agency business. The purchase of the Calcutta bonds was also effected with moneys received in the same connection. It is, however, certain that a very large part of the moneys to credit of this account and not improbably the whole of the moneys utilised in buying the Port Trust bonds was composed of sums received from sub-agents by way of guarantee deposits which were never entered in the accounts between the plaintiffs and Vaidya, and do not form any part of the total sum claimed by them to be due by Vaidya. It is not necessary to enter into the matter at length. It has been very fully dealt with by the learned trial judge and we entirely agree with him that although these moneys may have been held by Vaidya in trust for the sub-agents from whom he got them, he certainly did not hold them in trust for the plaintiff. The statement, exhibit 17, prepared from the sub-agents' accounts shows that from the 18th to the 31st of October the amount to their credit in Vaidya's agency books was not less than Rs. 67,000. If this statement had been seriously inaccurate the inaccuracies would have been brought to the notice of the Court. This statement of the sub-agents' balances makes it very difficult for the plaintiff to establish a breach of trust in relation to the money with the knowledge and to the advantage of the defendant bank. There are other difficulties also in the plaintiffs' way in this connection. First, the opening of the Vaidya Texas account on the 14th of October in Vaidya's absence does not suggest that it was intended to be an account on which he could draw, his personal account being closed to him on account of the heavy debit balance. The amount credited on the 14th October is remarkably close to that appearing due to plaintiffs in Vaidya's account in their books on that day and Manerikar says he believed the sum due to be between Rs. 20,000 and Rs. 25,000. It looks as if Manerikar with the concurrence of Kothavle was ready to help the defendant bank for Vaidya's agency business if Vaidya consented and the approximate amount due to the plaintiffs was credited separately, in anticipation, in order that no question should arise regarding it. The amount so credited to Vaidya (Texas) was not used for the bank's necessities in October, 1912. The credit opened on the 14th of October had only been diminished by Rs. 500 at the end of the month. There were large drawings against it in November but there were equally large payments made to the plaintiffs by Vaidya in that month and we have no charge against the defendant bank of improper use of the balances to the credit of Vaidya (Texas) in their books. Counsel on both sides seem to have been afraid to probe the significance of the Vaidya (Texas) account because it might conceivably lead to suggestions and inferences the effect of which had not been thoroughly considered.

In our opinion the plaintiffs have failed to establish that the payments to the defendant bank referred to in the plaint involved any breach of trust in regard to the plaintiffs' moneys. We affirm the decree and dismiss the appeal with costs.

WARRANTY BROKEN.

(Before Justice Beaman.)

JESINGLAL KALIDAS.—Plaintiff v. MESSRS. TYAB HAJI.—Defendants.

This was a suit to recover from the defendants three sums of Rs. 1,223-13-0, Rs 75 and Rs. 1,008, the first being the price of a cask of alizarine dye paid by the plaintiff to the defendants, the second the cost of a survey of the cask held by the plaintiff and the third damages suffered by the plaintiff by reason of the defendants' alleged breach of contract.

Mr. M. J. Mehta appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. D. F. Mulla appeared for the defendants.

On the 27th October, 1915, the defendant firm agreed to sell and deliver to the plaintiff one cask of Alizarine dye, three Moon brand, weighing 224 lbs. guaranteed to contain 20 per cent Alizarine at Rs. 5-8-0 per lb. The transaction was brought about by a broker Liladhar Mohanji and a memo of sale was given by the defendants to the plaintiff. The memo of sale referred to the cask as "the double cask of the Alizarine dye 3 Moon brand 20 degrees containing 224 lbs etc. On the 31st October 1912, the plaintiff paid to the defendants Rs. 1,222-13-0 the price of the cask at the agreed rate and he was given by the defendants a delivery order on one Narotam Morarji for the cask. The plaintiff presented the delivery order to Narotam Morarji on the 3rd November and a cask was tendered to the plaintiff by Narotam Morarji. The plaintiff however did not accept the cask as he suspected it contained goods of inferior quality. The plaintiff then called upon the defendants to tender him goods of the agreed quality but the defendants alleged that the goods had been bought by the plaintiff after full examination and approval and he was therefore bound to take the cask tendered. The plaintiff then made attempts to induce the defendants to have a joint survey of the cask held but the defendants did not agree to the proposed survey. The plaintiff then with a view to have the cask surveyed took delivery of the cask on the 28th January, 1916. Samples taken from the cask were examined by Major Dickinson, Chemical Analyser to the Government who gave his report saying that the cask contained only 3.5 per cent Alizarine instead of 20 per cent. The weight of the cask also was 210 whereas the contract provided for the contents being 224 lbs. The plaintiff, thereafter, informed the defendants that he had rejected the cask and that the plaintiff was prepared to deliver it to the defendants. The plaintiff alleged that at the time of the sale the defendants had given a warranty that the cask would contain 20 per cent. alizarine dye weighing 224 lbs. and that this warranty had been broken by the defendants. Under the circumstances the plaintiff claimed to be entitled to a return of the price paid with interest the costs of the survey amounting to Rs. 75 and damages, being the difference between the contract and market price, estimated by the plaintiff at Rs. 1,008-0-0.

The defence was that there was no such warranty by the defendants as alleged. Before the sale the defendants had showed the plaintiff the cask lying in the godown and the plaintiff after full examination and approval of the cask had purchased it from the defendants. The defendants contended that the reference in the memo. of sale to 20 per cent. and weight, etc., was merely descriptive of the cask bought by the plaintiff and simply recited what was written on the cask. Under the circumstances the plaintiff had bought that particular cask and he was bound to take it.

His Lordship tried the issue as to the alleged warranty first and came to the conclusion that the cask had been warranted by the defendants to contain 20 per cent. alizarine dye weighing 224 lbs. and that this warranty had been broken by the defendants and that the plaintiff was entitled to damages. The defendants were ordered to return the price paid by the plaintiff with interest at 6 per cent. The question of the damages claimed by the plaintiff was left over for settlement between the parties.

The Hon. Mr. J. D. Jenkins versus Mrs. Annie Besant

Mr. Jenkins says in The Times of India:—

"The point to which I wish to draw attention is that in the book under consideration what is left to the imagination and the way in which it is so left are as important, and as it seems to me, objectionable, as what is actually stated in set terms."

"It is an amusing attempt. The permission to the British traders to reside in India was not pregnant with ruin to the Mughal throne. India was not 'prosperous and wealthy before the East India Company came,' then why did it want to trade with her and keep out all rivals? It did not 'reduce India to poverty'; but the evidence is overwhelming."—New India.

THREE CASES OF RASH DRIVING.

ALL ACCUSED FINED.

Before the Chief Presidency Magistrate, at the Esplanade Police Court, Ardeshir J. Kolah, a Parsi, was charged by Inspector Hobson with driving a motor trolley in a rash manner. The accused was defended by Mr. M. K. Azad.

The prosecution alleged that on the evening of the 23rd June, the accused was seen driving his motor trolley at an excessive speed along Enere Road towards H. M.'s Mint. Police Inspectors Dixon and Hobson gave evidence, as they were riding in a tram car, that the trolley was going considerably faster than twelve miles per hour in such a congested locality, where there was so much traffic at the time. It was urged on behalf of the accused that the trolley was not going fast and that its maximum speed was not more than twelve miles per hour. The Magistrate convicted and sentenced the accused to pay a fine of Rs. 45.

Before the same Magistrate Vana Appa was charged by Inspector Sheehy with driving a motor trolley in a rash manner along the Apollo Street on the 23rd June in the afternoon. He was driving at a rate in excess of twelve miles an hour. The accused was fined Rs. 20.

Pherozeshah Balsara, an accountant in Messrs. Tata & Sons was charged with driving his motor cycle at an excessive speed at Apollo Bunder, by Sergeant Tomlinson. The Magistrate sentenced the accused to pay a fine of Rs. 20.

A CORRECTION.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE"

Sir,—I was surprised to read an article entitled "Water for School Boys," which appeared over my signature in your issue of the 11th instant. Evidently, it proceeds from "the lying blackguard who dreads to be horsewhipped by the man he maligns," since I neither know the Headmaster nor have I heard anything about the measure referred to by the impostor. I very greatly regret that advantage has thus been taken of such a well-known journal, as yours undoubtedly is, to indulge in spiteful and malevolent attacks behind the shield of a name so familiarly known to the public. If therefore the original article be sent to me, I will exert myself to drag the wretch to justice, and thus teach him a lesson in fairness and honesty.—Yours, etc.

KESHAVLAL L. OZA.

Bahauddin College,

[We regret that Professor Oza should have suffered any annoyance through the forgery of his name. The letter was published in good faith under the impression that it came from him.—Editor "B. C."]

The Belgian Children's Day, was celebrated with much eclat at the St. Joseph's Convent, Panchgani, on Monday the 10th instant. An interesting programme had been arranged and a wholly enjoyable day was spent. Rs. 200 were realised.

The Secretary of the Municipal Schools Committee announces that the municipal primary schools contributed Rs. 1,268-2-8 to the Belgian Children's Fund.

SAMSON CASE.

HAND-WRITING EXPERT FURTHER EXAMINED.

At the Mazagon Police Court yesterday the Fourth Presidency Magistrate resumed the hearing of the case in which Superintendent Morris charged Mr. D. J. Samson, Assistant Land Manager of the Bombay Improvement Trust with having received bribes.

Mr. E. Ferrers Nicholson, Public Prosecutor, conducted the prosecution, while Mr. S. G. Velinkar, Barrister-at-Law, with Mr. D. S. Erulkar, Barrister-at-Law, and Mr. P. K. Kotwal, Pleader, defended the accused.

Re-examined by Mr. Velinkar, Mr. Ramanbhai Mahipatram Rupram, the handwriting expert said that he had given expert evidence in at least 300 cases during the last ten years. In the Majority of them his opinion had been accepted When Mr. Erulkar saw witness at Ahmedabad he (witness) had neither known nor seen Mr. Samson. Mr. Erulkar was not a friend of the witness but his (Mr. Erulkar's) father was. Nothing happened between witness and Mr. Erulkar by which his (witness's) mind had been predisposed. Witness's usual fee was paid to him for his opinions. Witness gave his opinion beneficial to nobody but according to his own light.

TREMORS IN HANDWRITING.

Cross-examined again by Mr. Nicholson the witness said that tremors do not occur in every handwriting. They may occur in special cases caused by fever or when the table is shaken. Witness had made tremors in writing Gujarati letters in the Exhibit shown him. There he was imitating the letters in Ex. S. 4. In one instance witness had been shown he was not imitating any letter in the Exhibit. When one wrote deliberately tremors might appear but not usually in a flowing hand.

The further hearing of the case was adjourned till the 20th instant at 3-30 p.m.

MRS. BESANT AND BOMBAY GOVERNMENT.

MADRAS PRESS COMMENTS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

MADRAS, July 14.

Commenting on the Bombay Government's order under the Defence of India Act regarding Mrs. Besant, the "Hindu" says:—"The Government of India, as was shown in the recent repressive measures of the Madras and Bombay Governments against Mrs. Besant preserves the attitude of impenetrable reserve and secrecy. There is no constitutional means of making it disclose the grounds for its drastic action and the Bombay Government seems to think it right to forbid even the local press to comment upon its action. Under what law this last injunction was given and if there is no law to authorise it why it was complied with is not clear. The whole matter is a fitting subject for careful investigation by H. E. Lord Chelmsford, who is said to be well versed and much interested in the constitutional law and forms of Government."

The "Indian Patriot" says, the action of the Bombay Government lends justification to what has been done by the Madras Government. Whether reasonable or not we have to realise that the two Governments thinking and acting independently have come to the conclusion that Mrs. Besant's activities are not at present conducive to the welfare of the country.

ASSISTANT EDITOR OF THE "BENGALEE" ARRESTED.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CALCUTTA, July 14.

This morning the police visited the house of Mr. Shamsunder Chakravarti, Assistant Editor of the "Bengalee," at 12, Tamers Lane.

The police seized some papers and arrested Mr. Shamsunder.

Mr. Shamsunder was the joint editor of the defunct "Bande Mataram" with Mr. Aravind Ghose. He was one of the leaders of the non-Conventionist party in Calcutta and was deported with others for six months in 1922. He did not rejoin the Congress after the Surat split.

PARSI PRISONERS OF WAR.

TO THE EDITOR OF "THE CHRONICLE"

Sir,—My attention has been drawn to a paragraph in the "Jam Jame-shed" of the 26th June last. It is evident from it that there is a certain number of Parsi prisoners of war taken by the Turks at Kut. It is very likely that these co-religionists of ours must be undergoing certain hardships which are inevitable. It is the duty of our community to mitigate their conditions as far as it lies in our power. I have tried to make inquiries as to the number of prisoners of war in the hands of the Turks in Anatolia, but without success. The American Consul has, however, suggested to me that should a sum of money be placed at his disposal he will remit the same to his Ambassador at Constantinople with a request that the same he devoted towards the comfort of the Parsi prisoners. The Wadia Trustees have very kindly given me a sum of Rs. 750 for this purpose, and I shall be glad to receive subscriptions towards the object from the members of the community. The American Consul will, I am sure, undertake to render an account of all disbursements.

I have to request that all amounts be sent to Mr. K. S. Wadia, at 20-22 Parsi Bazaar Street Fort.

All donations will be acknowledged through the Press.—Yours etc.,

BOMBAY AMUSEMENTS.

EXCELSIOR THEATRE.

NEW BANDMAN VARIETIES.

The Excelsior management are not letting the grass grow beneath their feet and as fast as one attraction finishes another quickly takes its place. Wednesday last saw the finale to the Bodie season and Thursday ushered in a new contingent of Bandman Varieties the star attraction being Brull and Hemsley, (Elsa and Arthur), who present an extremely original burlesque with the weird title of "The Nut the Girl and the Egg." One would ask why the Egg? As a matter of fact this doubtful edible commodity plays a big part in the general success of the show. In fact it does a dancing act with Hemsley during one of his most eccentric efforts and Hemesley is certainly great at a fastastic dance, in fact he brought forth a tremendous burst of applause on his opening night. The whole burlesque which is in two well-set scenes is full of original humour and will be a certain draw in Bombay. Miss Brull by the way is not only a clever commedienne but has a nicely modulated soprano voice which is also exceedingly clear. Other new turns are Charlotta, a youthful but versatile dancer, and Miss George Devoe, who presents an unusual act for this country, in Low Comedy and Patter. The cinema portion of the programme is made up by a film version of Dickens' famous humourous series "Pickwick Papers" with the famous John Bunny as "Mr. Pickwick" The Scenes for the production have been taken on some of the actual Dickens' landmarks and should prove of interest and entertainment. Comedy cartoons are always popular and a new series will be given this week in "Frightful Sketches," depicting caricatures of the Arch Hun. Pathe's Gazette completing a strong bill, Serial films having become so popular in Bombay, the Excelsior will start one soon in the "Adventures of J. Rufas Wallingford." There are seven episodes and each one being a comedy representing frenzied finance and farcical Company promoting. This will be quite a new thing for Bombay, a comedy serial.

ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.

THREE DRAMAS.

There is to be another triple bill of drama at the Royal Opera House to-morrow and during the succeeding evenings, former experiments in this line having proved extremely popular.

The first of the three, entitled "In the Night," is a variety of problem play. A man comes home unexpectedly one night to find two other men in his house. The one had come to steal his property, the other to steal his wife. Here is a very pretty problem, for the husband held his wife far more dearly than any of his other property. The solution is worked out very satisfactorily and those who are curious must visit the Royal Opera House to discover how it is done.

Quite a different type of drama is "One Hundred Years Ago." First one sees a tragedy enacted in 1816. Next, in the very same house, an almost identical situation arises in 1916, and the hereditary bad temper of a parent nearly leads to a similar tragedy. Fortunately, at the critical moment a ghost appears and directs attention to a secret panel in which rests the true history of the former incident. Learning from it the parent makes his daughter and her fiance happy. Another drama and the Pathe Gazette conclude the programme.

NEW ALEXANDRA CINEMA.

"One of the best Detective Dramas yet seen" is to be exhibited at the New Alexandra from this evening. It is presented with characters in familiar dress and is entitled "John Drew, Detective." The idea at the back of the story is a distinctly good one, which one will not remember to have seen worked out before—at any rate so elaborately. It is nothing less than a splendidly conceived caricature of the ordinary sleuth hound of the screen. There never was a detective like John Drew for getting himself into trouble, while as for his assistant, Pickles, she was captured herself far oftener than she captured anybody else. They literally go through fire and water to hunt down their quarry. The story is absolutely crammed with interest and intrepid adventure, the detective and his assistant, in their endeavour to capture the gang of Blackmailers, being subjected to all kinds of sensational experiences, such as being nearly drowned in a water tank, rescued at the crucial moment from death by fire, bound to the sails of a windmill, and carried round and round until daringly rescued, and undergoing many other startling adventures that keep interest at fever heat until the final scene. Several pictures of life behind the scenes give added interest to a really attractive subject. It would take too long to do justice to the thousand and one other ingenious stunts with which the play abounds. The programme also includes two amusing comics, featuring the well known English comedians Billy Reeves and Billie Ritchie, and a one reel sensational railroad drama, featuring the intrepid screen favourite Helen Holmes.

AMERICA-INDIA CINEMA.

In the new programme which comes into force from to-night there are two strong dramas, one pathetic and the other sensational. "Toilers of the Sea" is a photo-play, which, though rather weak in incident arrests the attention from the very start on account of its human interest and charming photography. "The Diamond Makers" has plenty of incident and action to recommend it, being a detective drama of the sensational type where there is no lack of "thrills." The Topical Budget completes the programme.

THE BOMBAY CHRONICLE.

AFTER THE WAR.

"There is more and more speculation week after week," says the Economist in its issue of 17th June last, "as to what will follow the end of the war." The attention of the British people of all ranks and classes has presently been rivetted on this question. Our contemporary essays to answer the query in the following few but weighty and pregnant sentences.

"Just now we are living in fictitious prosperity upon borrowed money. After the war people will have to earn their bread, butter and jam in the usual way. Profits will disappear as the war trades vanish and competition returns. Employment will become scarce. Wages will fall as trade declines. Many prices which have been sky high will fall to the ground, private credits will be scrutinised with a new severity, and the longer the war lasts the greater will be the difficulties. Unfortunately, these difficulties cannot be overcome by Governments. It is only by long years of patient work that the individuals who support the vast and costly machine of administration will be able to repair the ravages of war."

Let Indians ponder well on the consequences above enumerated. Above all, let the enthusiastic industrialists take thought of the morrow and carefully consider what new developments they seriously think of attempting and whence they are going to provide the capital for the larger industries and trades which they mean to start or stimulate. They will have also to take into their consideration the reflex but farreaching influences which the new economic conditions, arising from the war, may bring in their train on India. When journals in the front rank of French economics are discussing the question in Paris and even inquiring of Mr. Hughes, the Australian Premier, how he proposes to overthrow of the present commercial structure of Great Britain and to destroy its few markets, Indians, of enthusiasm and high industrial ideals, will have to think twice and thrice as to the way in which the material but undeveloped resources are to be exploited for the sole and exclusive interests of the people. Have they crystallised their ideas, if so, have they given to them a practical body and form? Or are they simply echoing the hollow economic shibboleths now so thoughtlessly pronounced by a majority who seem to be blissfully ignorant of the very alphabet of Indian economics, let alone those of the wide-world.

Meanwhile it may not be uninstructive to refer here to some pertinent questions put by "Le Temps" to Mr. Hughes. Will not, asks that most influential Paris journal, the adoption of Protection by Great Britain naturally affect the interests of the other allies? Can the words of the potential Australian Minister alter the laws of supply and demand? The "Journal des Debats" which is another Parisian paper of weight, animadverts as follows:—

"Mr. Hughes' idea is by means of preferential tariffs to create a sort of Customs union between Great Britain and her Colonies,—a union recalling the famous colonial agreement which, after many struggles, was definitely abandoned by our neighbours and Allies across the Channel in the middle of last century. . . The ideas of Mr. Hughes have rather alarmed the French industrial and commercial groups which are more particularly engaged in business relations with Great Britain. . . Every delegate to the Conference who arrives in Paris with absolute and uncompromising opinions will be obliged to recognise that in economic matters, as in many others, the policy of solidarity of interest ought to dominate all extreme and exclusive ideas on the subject."

Have enlightened Indians, in and out of the Imperial Council, considered what policy Great Britain will adopt after the war towards its greatest dependency to promote solidarity of interests? And how far such a policy will conduce to the material interests of the country or how far militate against it? It is all very well to have committees to consider the ways and means of industrial development. But such development, it is needless to say, will in the first instance, depend on the policy which the Home Government adopts towards India. Just as the administrative policy regulates all expenditure, so must the industrial policy mould the development and fertilisation of our coming industries. It is time Indians awoke to the fundamental question of industrial policy. For all their future industrial aspirations, organisations, capital and what not, will depend on it. It is to be devoutly hoped that some of the popular representatives will raise this fundamental question of Indian industrial policy in the coming cold season session of the Imperial Legislative Council. Concerted action is essential. Were the popular representatives to bestir from now and prepare themselves, they would be able to make out a fair and reasonable case and elicit from the Government a categorical answer to this question. For, let them remember that all their other trouble in collecting information and formulating it for practical purposes will be so much waste of time and energy if this fundamental question remains unanswered or is allowed to lie in a state of ambiguity. Let them have at first a full and frank declaration of industrial policy and then proceed with all other matters. But it would be placing the cart before the horse to think of industrial development first only to find all their aspirations were to be frustrated by the policy which the Home Government may lay down,—a policy which will necessarily embrace international treaties, political and commercial, and many things besides altogether foreign to Indian interests exclusively.

OPEN COURT AND OPEN PRESS.

Yesterday, in commenting briefly on the proceedings before the acting Chief Judge of the Court of Small Causes for contempt proceedings against the editor of this journal, for publishing the evidence of a witness which had been taken in the judge's private chamber, we pointed out that this was not a case of proceedings being heard in camera but of the evidence having been heard in private and at a time in advance of the hearing of the suit, in order to suit the convenience of a witness who was in delicate health and about to remove from the jurisdiction of the court. There could, as we said, be no contempt in publishing such proceedings. The private room on this occasion was the court and the parties and the public possessed as much right to make known what took place as though the evidence had been given in open court. The mere adjournment of a judge to his private room for such a purpose does not constitute a proceeding in camera, and, indeed, we doubt whether the judge would have the power so to constitute it.

But it is interesting to impress upon those who seem to labour under certain misapprehensions in regard to the whole question that, even proceedings in camera cannot be protected from publicity. A very interesting judgment in regard to this particular question was delivered by the House of Lords in 1913 and commented upon in these columns at the time. In that case certain divorce proceedings had been heard in camera and one of the parties afterwards had the proceedings printed and circulated among her friends. Proceedings for contempt were instituted before Mr. Justice Bargrave Deane who held thatt a gross contempt had been committed. The matter went ultimately to the House of Lords. Five judges, Lord Haldane, then Lord Chancellor and Lords Halsbury, Loreburn, Atkinson and Shaw unanimously concurred in discharging the order of Mr. Justice Bargrave Deane. They held, in the first place, that the order to hear the proceedings in camera was invalid, and laid down very clearly and emphatically that the administration of justice must take place in public. The order of the judge, moreover said Lord Haldane, could not abrogate the prima facie right, which the parties and the public possessed to make known what took place at the hearing and to discuss it. Their lordships emphasised very strongly the danger which lies in any abrogation of the right of the public to have justice administered in public and in attempts to have the proceedings of the courts in any way concealed. The courts have no general power to administer justice within closed doors, and even where a proceeding is held in camera there is no power to enforce perpetual secrecy nor would it be right that it should be so. All this emphasises the absurdity of the assumption that there can be any contempt in obtaining and publishing a report of the evidence of a witness which has been in heard in chambers merely for convenience, whether of the judge, the parties or the witness himself. The fact that the evidence is not as yet on the judge's record does not affect this. The evidence has been given. It should have given in open court but it was given in the judge's private room as a matter of grace. Once the hearing of the suit commenced, at least, the publication is not only legitimate but desirable.

But what appears to us really amazing is that a judge who has no power to issue a rule for contempt, and can only deal with cases of contempt in faciae curiae, should allow the time of his court to be wasted by parties making and arguing applications to him to do what it is out of his power to do. The acting Chief Judge rightly held that there was no contempt in this case. But we presume he also knew that if there had been, it was not in his power to deal with the matter in the way that he was asked to do. And having allowed these still-born proceedings to occupy the time of the court, he follows up the matter by addressing a letter to the Editor of this paper demanding to know the name of the reporter who obtained the report and expressing his "strong disapproval" of his conduct. Things are coming to a pretty pass if public journals are to be addressed in this fashion and admonished by a judge of Small Causes in regard to the conduct of an employee who is merely performing his duty and acting within his rights. The learned judge remarked in the course of the proceedings that "really he had very little discretion." And there the matter may be left.

Notes of the Day.

What Has Become of Mr. Asquith's Statement?

On July 6th a Reuter's telegram was despatched from London announcing that Mr. Asquith would "make his promised statement in regard to Ireland on Monday." That telegram was not released by the Censor, or was delayed in transmission, until July 9th, the day before the statement was to have been made. It is now July 15th and not another word about it has reached the public in this country. Can Reuter or the Censor explain why? If the statement had been postponed we presume we should have been told so. We are left to the conclusion that, for some reason of high state or military policy, it is not considered desirable to publish the statement in India. As there cannot be any military reason, the reason must be political, which leads us to another supposition, that the mere expression Home Rule has become such a bogey that it is thought the Indian public cannot safely be allowed to hear anything about it in relation to another country, much less their own. One only supposes this, of course. It may be that the statement was not made. But if that is the case, perhaps Reuter will be good enough to let us know why.

The Workers' Sacrifice.

The proposal for the postponement of all holidays which Mr. Asquith made in the Commons on Thursday is merely the logical extension of the fact that is by this time universally recognised, that the workers who are toiling in munition factories are no less soldiers of the war than the patriots who are fighting in the trenches. If the latter as a class, must every moment be prepared to face the fire of the enemy, it is only natural that the former should be prepared to offer something like an equal sacrifice and the nearest approach to this can only be that they should consent to forego the enjoyment of holidays at this moment when, as Mr. Asquith said, a very favourable change has been produced on the military situation by the Allies' offensive,—rendered possible by the greater and superior supply of munitions as much as by the increase in the number of soldiers,—and it chiefly requiries for success a great and continuous supply of munitions. No one, who has realised the enormous sacrifices of their hard won constitutional rights, which the British workmen have voluntarily undergone during the war, will doubt the response to the appeal of Mr. Asquith to their patriotism.

Prohibition in Scotland.

It is announced that the Central Control Board, at the request of the naval authorities, has issued an Order prohibiting entirely the sale of spirits in western parts of Inverness-shire, Ross-shire, Cromarty-shire, Skye, and all the outer islands from Lewis to Barra. The "Statesman" makes the following instructive comments on this Order:—

One would have thought that Skye and Lewis and the other regions of the far north would be among the last places in the British Isles to "go dry," as the Americans say. Many a Highlander would as soon think of giving up his porridge as of giving up his whisky. In these regions, too, a law like this must be very difficult to enforce, the facilities for illicit distillation and for smuggling being quite abnormal. No doubt the explanation is to be found in the fact that these remote regions are among the favourite recruiting grounds for the navy, and are the places where a large number of seamen spend their leave. If prohibition can be carried out successfully in these homes of the mountain dew, there should be no insuperable difficulties in the way of its being enforced anywhere.

The true policy which has guided the Central Control Board in issuing this Order may well be commended to the attention of the Excise authorities in this country.

India's Trade Recovery.

That, in spite of the numerous restrictive influences, India is rapidly recovering her lost ground in foreign trade will be apparent to anyone glancing through the comparative trade figures for the months of April and May of the last two years. The value of India's imports of merchandise, which in April, 1914, stood at Rs 14,50 lakhs, suffered heavily in the next year and came down to Rs. 9,27 lakhs in April, 1915. This year, however, the import trade of April recovered to the extent of Rs. 10,98 lakhs. On the export side, the improvement has been much more evident. The value of the trade, which declined from Rs. 20,80 lakhs in April 1914, to Rs. 12,50 lakhs in April 1915, rose to Rs. 17,05 lakhs in April of this year. This improvement of trade was fully kept up in May and was even more extensive than in April. The value of imports of merchandise in May 1914, stood at Rs. 13,59 lakhs. It declined to Rs. 9,43 lakhs in May 1915, but improved again to Rs 12,55 lakhs in May this year. The values of the exports during the same three months were Rs. 21,39 lakhs, Rs 15,71 lakhs and Rs. 12,55 lakhs respectively.

Notable Increases and Decreases.

Comparing the combined period of two months of April and May of this year with the corresponding period of last year, the most notable increases in imports this year are found to be Rs. 277 lakhs in cotton manufactures, Rs. 24 lakhs in mineral oils, Rs 16 lakhs in carriages and carts, Rs. 15 lakhs in metals, and Rs. 21 lakhs in machinery; the main decreases were Rs. 53 lakhs in railway plant and rolling stock, Rs. 22 lakhs in copper, Rs. 12 lakhs in matches and Rs. 11 lakhs in sugar. On the exnort side the notable increases were Rs 199 lakhs in gunny bags and cloth, Rs. 190 lakhs in hides and skins, Rs. 172 lakhs in seeds, Rs. 99 lakhs in raw cotton, Rs 86, lakhs in tea, and Rs. 30 lakhs in indigo; while the decreases were mainly as follows:—Rs. 153 lakhs in wheat, Rs. 39 lakhs in cotton twist and yarn, and Rs. 21 lakhs in coffee.

Health of Bombay in June.

The vital statistics of this city for the month of June clearly demonstrate how adversely Bombay's health has been affected this year in comparison with the conditions of last year. The general death-rate, as well as the mortality from plague and small-pox, were considerably higher. The total number of deaths during the month was 2,110 as against 1,71[illegible] in June 1915, while plague registered 87 deaths as against 32, and small-pox 65 as against 37. Diseases of the respiratory system appear to have been more virulent this year. 647 deaths being registered as against 533 of June, last year. Increased mortality was also registered from malaria and dysentry. Infant mortality was also on the increase, 610 deaths being reported last month as against 512 of June last year. There was a slight increase in the birth-rate, 1,478 births being recorded as against 1,423 of last year.

THE WAR.

SUMMARY OF TELEGRAMS

BATTLE OF SOMME.

SECOND LINE BROKEN.

ALLIED COUNCIL IN LONDON

TURKEY APPREHENSIVE.

General Haig reports that at dawn on Friday the British attacked the enemy's second line of defence and broke in the front over four miles. The British captured several strongly defended localities. Heavy fighting continues.

Mr. Lloyd George presiding at an allied War Council at the War Office, emphasised that a considerable change in the fortunes of the Allies had taken place since the last conference. We had crossed the watershed and now victory was beginning to flow in our direction.

Government propose to postpone all holidays. Mr. Asquith said a very favourable change had been produced on the military situation by the Allies' offensive, which was only beginning, and he appealed to the patriotism of the workers and public to postpone holidays to carry it to a triumphant conclusion with a continuous supply of munitions.

The Russians have gained another success west of the Lower Strypa.

Attacks on the new Italian positions have been driven back in disorder with heavy loss.

Turkey has become apprehensive, as it is reported Austria has asked for Bulgaria's assistance against Russia. Turkey is desirous of negotiating with an unnamed Entente Power, and it is said an immediate rupture with Bulgaria and the Central Powers is demanded.

Mr. Bonar Law announced in the Commons on Thursday that Mr. Asquith would make a full statement regarding the Dardanelles and Mesopotamia on Tuesday and promised facilities for discussion.

ALLIED COUNCIL AT WAR OFFICE.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE'S HOPEFUL REVIEW.

"VICTORY FLOWING IN OUR DIRECTION."

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)

LONDON, July 13.

Mr. Lloyd George, presiding at a conference at the War Office, attended by French, Russian and Italian representatives, emphasised that a considerable change in the fortunes of the Allies had taken place since the last conference. He paid a tribute to the splendid achievements of the Allies and declared that a combined offensive East and West was due to the vast output of munitions which had deprived the enemy of initiative. We had crossed the watershed and now the victory was beginning to flow in our direction.

He described the efforts of the Allies to increase the output of munitions. The work of supplying the Navy occupied a million men, but, in addition, Britain had evolved out of nothing arsenals to supply a huge army. Most of the factories were completed and were turning out hundreds of guns. Heavy guns were rolling in at a great rate. The new factories had not yet attained one-third of their full capacity, but the outturn was increasing daily. The main difficulties had been solved and our supplies would shortly be overwhelming. Mr. Lloyd George concluded by urging the necessity for a close examination of the requirements of various armies, as with mutual help victory anywhere meant victory everywhere.

LONDON, July 14.

Last evening's British communiqué reports that there was reciprocal artillery activity throughout the day. As the result of sharp infantry fighting we not merely maintained our pressure but appreciably advanced our line at various points. We captured some German howitzers in one sector with ammunition. These will be used against the enemy.

HEAVY ARTILLERY DUELS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)

LONDON, July 13.

General Haig this afternoon reports heavy artillery duels and fighting in certain sectors, but the situation is everywhere unchanged.

Attempted raids on our trenches west of Wytschaete and south of the La Bassée canal were driven off.

Our aeroplanes, despite unfavourable weather, were constantly active over the German lines, where all attacks on them were driven off.

BATTLE OF WOODS.

DETERMINED BRITISH EFFORTS.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

LONDON, July 14.

The chief characteristic of the fighting at Mametz and Contalmaison has been the determined effort of the British to take and hold a number of copses and small forests between the first and second German lines. Hence the fighting has been called the "Battle of Woods."

Of these Trones Wood has constantly changed hands and has been christened by the Tommies Hell-Hole Wood.

It was originally a dense copse, but has been so frequently shelled, that it is impossible to obtain cover in it.

The Germans when they were the original possessors neglected to fortify it. Hence it is easy to concentrate an annihilating shellfire on its occupants. But the wood no longer hinders the development of the British advance.

LONDON, July 13.

Reuter's representative at Headquarters describing the battles for Mametz Wood and Contalmaison emphasises their extraordinary desperateness and almost appalling formidableness of the defences.

Both places were literally honeycombed with Bosche-packed dugouts, the inmates of which remained hidden till we entered and then poured out, dragging machine-guns and bagfulls of bombs in their wake.

Innumerable individual and sectional combats of a very fierce and bloody nature ensued before the places were finally in our hands.

The capture of Mametz Wood brings the British at this point within three hundred yards of the front trench of the enemy's second line.

INTENSE BOMBARDMENT AT SOUVILLE.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)

PARIS, July 13.

This afternoon's communiqué reports intermittent cannonade on the Somme and intense bombardment at Souville, Chenois and Laufee. There was no infantry action on the right of the Meuse.

PARIS, July 14.

A communiqué says there is nothing to report except somewhat lively bombardment in the Souville sector on the right of the Meuse.

GERMANY IN A VICE-LIKE GRIP.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

LAHORE, July 14.

A "Civil and Military Gazette's" special cable says:—

Von Weigand says Germany is in a vice-like grip which is likely to increase on all fronts. A few weeks will probably show whether it is sufficient to crush the Teuton ramparts.

A Central News' telegram from Amsterdam says the authorities are allowing the German papers to reveal the true situation gradually. They openly discuss the possibility of the effects of defeat.

The "Hamburger Nachrichten" concludes an article thus:—What will become of Germany without colonies, without marine, without commerce, without indemnities?"

BRITAIN AND FRANCE.

GREETINGS OF EVERLASTING BROTHERHOOD.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)

LONDON, July 13.

President Poincaré, in a message to Britain on the occasion of the National Fête, says that the French have unboundedly admired the deeds of Britain's glorious Navy and the development of the Empire's mighty resources. France sends greetings of everlasting brotherhood to Britain and the Dominions overseas.

RUHLEBEN PRISONERS.

FURTHER BRITISH PROPOSALS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)

LONDON, July 13.

Lord Robert Cecil stated in the Commons that Germany denied that she did not recognise her obligations to feed British prisoners at Ruhleben and threatened to prohibit parcels and to reduce rations of British prisoners if we reduced the rations of German prisoners.

Germany had indicated that she was willing to release the British prisoners if we released all the German prisoners, but Great Britain could not agree to exchange 26,000 Germans for 4,000 British, Lord Robert Cecil said we would press for the exchange of civilians over fifty and unfit men over forty-five and the internment of the remaining civilians in a neutral country. He added that Britain was perfectly free to retaliate if necessary.

NOT THE TIME FOR HOLIDAYS.

ALLIES' OFFENSIVE MUST BE CARRIED THROUGH.

DEPENDENT ON MUNITIONS

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)

LONDON, July 13.

In the Commons to-day Mr. Asquith announced that owing to war needs the Government proposed postponement of all holidays until such time as might be announced. Negotiations with workers on the subject were proceeding.

Mr. Asquith said he thought he was entitled to say that a very favourable change had been produced on the military situation by the Allies' offensive which was only beginning. It required for success a great and continuous supply of munitions of which there were ample at present. (Cheers.)

But the daily consumption was enormous and he therefore appealed to the patriotism of workers and the public generally to postpone holidays in order that the attack so brilliantly begun, might be carried to a triumphant conclusion.

LATER.

Mr. Asquith stated that the Government would see that the holidays were merely postponed and not abandoned. August Bank Holiday would be suspended by proclamation.

No greater service could be rendered by workers to the Army than by giving the latter encouragement and the enemy discouragement of the certain knowledge that the present intensity of the bombardment could be continued indefinitely if necessary.

MESOPOTAMIA CAMPAIGN.

DISCUSSION INOPPORTUNE AT PRESENT.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, July 12.

Speaking in the Commons, Mr. Asquith said he did not think the moment was opportune to discuss the Mesopotamia campaign. The Government were most desirous that a discussion should take place and they did not desire to keep back anything. There were reasons which could not properly be disclosed why discussion was inopportune at present. The question of the condition of the troops in Mesopotamia was engaging the Government's attention daily and most careful steps were being taken to remedy the defects and supply immediate necessities.

Sir Edward Carson intimated that he would put a question with regard to Mesopotamia next week and if the reply were not satisfactory he would move an adjournment.

COMMISSARIAT DEFICIENCIES.

LONDON, July 12.

"The Times" trusts that the War Office will make every effort to remedy commissariat deficiencies believed to exist in Mesopotamia. It admits that the difficulties are great, but demands a searching enquiry into the whole expedition.

TURKEY APPREHENSIVE

FEARS BALKAN ISOLATION.

RUPTURE WITH CENTRAL POWERS DEMANDED.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, July 13.

A report that Austria has asked for the assistance of the Bulgarians against Russia has apparently made Turkey apprehensive of isolation in the Balkans and it is stated that Turkey is desirous of negotiating with a certain Entente Power.

Germany is uneasy regarding conferences held in Switzerland between Ahmed Riza Bey, President of the Turkish Chamber and the leading members of the Opposition, who demand an immediately rupture with Bulgaria and the Central Powers.

ENEMY'S COSTLY INCURSION INTO ITALY.

AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN LOSSES ESTIMATED AT 6,00,000.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

ALLAHABAD, July 14.

The "Pioneer's" correspondent cables:—The "Morning Post's" Budapest correspondent writes that the Austro-Hungarian losses were much discussed in the parliamentary lobbies during the sitting at the end of June. Members who had returned from the Italian and Russian fronts put the total losses since the beginning of the incursion into Italy at over 600,000. That incursion is estimated to have cost 100,000 in killed and wounded.

Officer members of the Hungarian Parliament estimate the same number killed and twice as many wounded on the Russian front. A member attached to General Bothmer's army stated that 100,000 were disabled through illness and lack of food.

AUSTRIAN STRATEGY ON ITALIAN FRONT.

"TIMES" MILITARY CORRESPONDENT ON ENEMY'S BLUNDER.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

ALLAHABAD, July 14.

The "Pioneer's" correspondent cables:—"The Times" military correspondent after inspecting the Italian front pays a tribute to the strategy of the recent Austrian offensive. He realises that the enemy made a blunder in believing that Russia would remain quiescent, also that the moment was badly chosen. Their army did not exceed 15 divisions. It is unlikely that the Austrians intended to invade Italy with this force, since General Cadorna was known to have 50 divisions.

The correspondent believes that the enemy anticipated that Italy's part in the Allies' co-ordinated offensive would be a strong attack on the Isonzo front. By the Trentino attack they tried to ward off the Italian stroke. The moment the Austrian air scouts, who were uncommonly active, reported that General Cadorna had moved his reserves, completed his concentration and opened his counter-offensive, the enemy began to retire.

WHAT ITALY SHOULD DO NOW.

In the writer's opinion it is quite possible for Italy to conquer the Trentino, but it is more advisable for her to strengthen her blockade and then to throw her full weight against the Isonzo, eventually redeeming the Trentino not at Trent but at Vienna.

ALLEGED THEFT OF S. & T. STORES.

PROSECUTION CASE CLOSED.

MR. GAINSFORD AND HENDERSON.

At the Esplanade Police Court, yesterday, the Chief Presidency Magistrate resumed the hearing of the case in which Inspector Shaw charged John G. Smith, Inspector, R. I. M., Thomas Robert Earle, Sergeant, Thomas Herbert Guest, Sergeant, and Ignatius D. Furtado, store foreman, with the theft of goods valued at Rs. 1,870, belonging to the Supply and Transport Corps. Superintendent Sullivan of the C. I. D., assisted by Inspectors Jefferies and Doran, conducted the prosecution, while Mr. P. Godinho and Mr. B. J. Dhondi defended Smith, and Mr. N. N. Saher defended Guest and Furtado.

Mr. Frederic Gainsford, contractor, residing at Colaba, cross-examined by Mr. Saher, said he first came to know of Henderson on or about the 18th or 19th May last, as one of the men working in the docks.

Mr. Saher:—Did you see him at any time at Mongini's?

The witness:—Yes, several times.

How used he to come there?—In a motor-car principally.

The Magistrate:—Was it a taxi?—It was a taxi, but he gave me the impression that it was his own car.

How used he to dress?—Always in civilian clothes. I have never seen him in anything else, except that night when I saw him in evening dress.

When did you see him in evening dress?—Many times after dark.

Dining at the Yacht Club, or what?—I cannot say where he was dining, but I once saw him going to the Hotel Majestic in full dress.

The Magistrate asked how these questions were relevant.

Mr. Saher:—They are put to show what type of man Henderson is and how he imposed upon the witness and others.

Continuing, the witness said Henderson told him that he was dining with some officers there.

Mr. Saher:—Did you know that his Christian name was Kinaird?

The witness:—I learnt of it subsequently.

Have you had any conversation with him about his name?—Somebody in my presence asked him whether he knew the great Kinaird of the Henderson family at Home, who was related to the family of Henderson, who owned the Henderson line of steamers. He laughed and said he was named Kinaird after him.

Did he tell you that he had any connection with the Hendersons, the ship owners?—Yes, he gave me that impression and said he did a lot of business for their steamers.

Whenever you saw him at Mongini's, did you find him spending moneys himself, or did somebody else stand drinks for him?—He always paid for his own drinks.

How did you come to know him?—I really cannot tell you. I know a lot of people in the docks, but I cannot tell you how I first came to know them.

THE PRICE LISTS.

The witness was shown the two price lists referred to by Henderson as having been written at Mongini's. He said one of them was entirely in his handwriting, while all the items except the last in the other were in his handwriting. He wrote them expressly at Henderson's dictation and request. They were written in Mongini's shop on paper that he obtained from one of the servants there. Henderson asked him if he had a pencil and he said he had. Henderson then said: "Will you write something for me?" He did so and wrote as Henderson dictated. He did not volunteer his service as stated by Henderson. As far as he remembered, Henderson was not busy with other friends while he was writing. Henderson dictated the list item by item. Henderson asked him to put down the prices according to a certain list which his (the witness's) son had in his possession.

The witness offered to explain how his son obtained those lists, but no question was asked in reference to them.

Cross-examined by Mr. Sullivan, the witness said he had also seen Henderson in the docks at No. 11 shed. He was working in civilian clothes. The witness said he did not know that Henderson belonged to the Royal Indian Marine. He knew that he was working in No. 11 shed. He knew that at the end portion of No. 11 shed there was a board bearing the words "The Marine Stores."

Mr. Sullivan: Did it not strike you how a man in Henderson's position could import goods of this description?

The witness: If you had heard him speak of his family connections, you would have believed him capable of commanding not only cartloads of such goods, but even a quantity that would fill up this courtroom.

You are a graduate of the Madras University.—Yes.

And you are a man of wide experience.—Fairly wide. I have travelled widely.

Did you judge Henderson by his educational abilities?—He spoke very well, he carried himself well; and he moved about as a man drawing Rs. 1,000 or Rs. 1,200 a month at least.

Did he speak grammatically?—Every time he spoke to me he spoke quite grammatically.

Mr. Sullivan closed his case.

Evidence was then called for the defence.

Conductor H. J. Elliott, of the S. and T. Corps, said he had gone to the unloading section on the 6th June. He received stores for distribution to other sections. Sergeant Guest had nothing to do with his section. He had never interfered with witness' work. The stores were transferred from the witness' section to other sections either under his or Lieut. N. C. Whinnie's orders. If Guest gave such orders they would not be obeyed, not after the 6th June.

The further hearing of the case was adjourned till to-day.

SEVA SADAN SOCIETY.

EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY.

On Sunday, the 11th instant, was celebrated the eighth anniversary of the Seva Sadan Society at the hall of the Prarthana Mandir. Mrs. Ramabai Ranade was in the chair. Notwithstanding the heavy rain, there was a very large attendance of Hindu, Parsi and Mahomedan ladies. Among those present were Lady Chandavarkar, Lady Tata, Dilshad Begam Sahiba, Mrs. Dehdusti, Mrs. Umabai Khare, Mrs. Sonabai Jayakar, Miss D. E. Wacha, Mrs. D. N. Bahadurji, and Mrs. B. D. Padamji. The proceedings began with a song specially prepared for the occasion by the girls of the Home Classes. After the report was read the President addressed the meeting. She referred in touching terms to the heavy and irreparable loss sustained by the Society by the deaths of the founder, the late Mr. Malabari, and of one of its distinguished vice-presidents, the late Mrs. N. B. Sakai, who was well known for her disinterested services. She also urged on the necessity of having a Sadan not only in each city, but she said there should be a Sadan in every taluka throughout India. Then and then only will the women of India learn to render self-sacrificing service to their fellow creatures.

NEED FOR BETTER ACCOMMODATION.

Among other things she also remarked that the work of the Bombay Seva Sadan had increased so much that they had not got a hall to accommodate all the pupils of the different classes in the different localities, that Rs. 10,000 had been promised by the founder's family for the purpose and hoped more funds would soon be forthcoming.

Mrs. Cama, the senior vice-president, also addressed the meeting in Gujrati, eulogising the efforts of the honorary workers.

There was an interesting programme of songs by the pupils. The songs of Mrs. A Gokhale and Mrs. S. N. Kapadia, honorary singing teachers, were much appreciated. Prizes in singing, sewing, English, drawing and cooking, were given away by Lady Chandavarkar, and the meeting dispersed after partaking of light refreshments.

ALLAHABAD, July 14.

In the public enquiry into the conduct of Babu Gokul Prasad, Sub-Judge, the third charge was taken up to-day. This was in connection with a suit of the Allahabad Trading Company v. Gulam Muhamad and others in which it was alleged that the Judge through the agency of Benod Behari accepted a bribe of Rs. 500 from the defendant as a motive for deciding the suit in his favour.

Gulam Muhamad deposed that he was sued on a mortgage bond for Rs. 24,000 and on certain information received went to Benode Behari and it was arranged the Judge would be approached next day. Benode Behari informed him he had seen the Judge and Rs. 1,000 was the amount required which witness demurred to pay. It was finally settled that Rs. 500 would be paid first in two instalments and Rs. 500 after judgment had been pronounced. Rs. 500 was paid to Benode but witness never saw the Judge. The case was decided against him and witness went to Benode and created a great row and demanded back his money which was returned.

ALLEGED BREACH OF TRUST.

A LOAN BROKER'S EVIDENCE.

PAYMENT FOR HUNDIS.

At the Esplanade Police Court, yesterday, the Third Presidency Magistrate resumed the hearing of the case in which Haji Ahmed Haji Hassam Dada, a Memon charged Nanabhoy Cowasji Engineer with criminal breach of trust in respect of two hundis. Mr. J. D. Davar with Mr. Nariman of Messrs. Ardeshir Hormusji and Dinshaw, and Mr. Mangaldas Mehta appeared for the complainant, while Mr. Srd May he gathered that Dada did not want Rustamji Bharucha of Messrs. Jamsetji Rustamji and Devidas and Mr. P. K. Kotwal defended the accused.

Mr. S. B. Nariman of Messrs. Ardeshir Hormasji Dinshaw and Company cross-examined by Mr. D. B. Binning said he consulted Mr. Davar regarding the prosecution. From the conversation on the 3rd May, he gathered Dada did not want to take him into confidence. He was a very weak man. He gathered from his conversation that Dada did not wish him to take any steps. Dada was not very much in the solicitor's hands when he was with him; he sometimes humbugged him by not telling the truth. On the 3rd May when Dada saw him he made no efforts to show that the complaint was false. He was surprised at this conduct. He did not ask for an explanation because Dada did not want to take him into confidence. He did not see Mr. Dinshaw between the 3rd and 8th of May. He did not communicate with Mr. Dinshaw regarding Dada's conduct. He had very little experience of Police Courts, but his experience was that sometimes non-compoundable cases are allowed to be withdrawn if the Magistrate is satisfied.

DADA—A CAT'S PAW IN ACCUSED'S HANDS.

He told Dada on the 8th May that he would have to satisfy the Court that the complaint was false before it could be withdrawn. He believed that Dada was a cat's paw in the hands of the accused.

He did not warn him to be careful. He did not consider Dada to be a very valuable client. The Commissioner of Police never said that he was satisfied, but witness thought he looked satisfied—this was about Surajmal's case. He could not swear that Mr. Morris said it was no use going on with the case if Dada did not help.

This finished Mr. Nariman's examination.

Mr. Wamanrao Thakore was then cross-examined by Mr. Binning. He said in 1910-11 he did big business in regard to money transactions. He was a large loan broker, and he also did import business of cutlery, glassware, etc. He also used to lend monies. He never arranged for repayments. He also did mortgage matters. At times he went to solicitors' offices. The reason he remembered the money was paid at 6.30 p.m. was because he had difficulty in finding the office. He swore it was the first time he went to Surajmal's office that day. The money was paid after his office hours, that is why he remembered the hour 6-30. He paid the monies out of his own pocket on both the occasions. He went to Surajmal's office because Nagindas told him he had stipulated with the accused that he should wait till 7-30 there. According to him hundis were paid at any time before the sunset. Nagindas is still alive and in Bombay. He had nothing to do with the lending of the money. Before the time he took the money and paid to the Commissioner's office Surajmal spoke to him about it. He had no conversation with anybody up to January, 1916. Nagindas had an office at one time in Dhunjibhoy's office. His own office was in Church Gate Street. He did not spend much time in Nagindas' office. He denied the money was paid to the accused in Nagindas' office. At the time he paid the hundi he did not know where Nagindas's office was, as he was continuously changing it. Now he had no office. His (witness') office was never in Esplanade Road.

There was no re-examination.

The case was adjourned to Friday the 21st instant at 3.30 p.m.

SIMLA IN THE RAINS

DISTINGUISHED INVALIDS.

THE HARD-WORKED MILITARY.

(From our own Correspondent.)

SIMLA, July 12.

Since I wrote to you last week there has been a slight amelioration in the weather conditions, and we have had some refreshing rain. The end of last week saw a considerable exodus from the summer capital, but they have been immediately replaced by fresh arrivals. The week that has passed has been one of the most uneventful of the season, climatic conditions interfering with every kind of outdoor sport. Besides this there have been a large number of ailments and though the wave of enteric which swept the hill at the beginning of summer has happily abated, there has nevertheless been a great deal of sickness. The Italian Consul-General, Marchese Medici di Marigniano, and the representative of the Shah, Sir Davood Khan, are among the distinguished invalids. The former is still in the Walker hospital, whilst Sir Davood has left Simla for the more salubrious neighbourhood of Mahasu. Speaking of Mahasu, a great deal of interest of a mournful kind attaches to the leading hotel there, Wildflower Hall, inasmuch as it was the residence of the late Minister for War during his term here as Commander-in-Chief. Lord Kitchener was able to indulge to the full in the beautiful grounds of his summer residence his passion for flowers, and it was a depressing sight to see all around the pathways he had laid out and the shady arbours he had caused to be built. The story runs that he made his Aides do a good deal of the digging!

SIR W. MEYER'S LECTURE.

Sir William Meyer delivered the first of the course of lectures arranged at Viceregal Lodge, on Wednesday afternoon, before their Excellencies and about a hundred and twenty guests. Sir William, who spoke for an hour and twenty minutes, traced the evolution of British rule in India from its earliest beginnings to the present day. He described how the various departments of government with which we are now familiar first came into being under very different names, and outlined the various duties which appertain to district officers in our times. The lecture was most scholarly and instructive. Next Wednesday we hope to hear Sir John Marshall who will speak on Prehistoric Art in India Part I.

The Scamps are with us, and their performances are packed every night. This talented company are to the regret of everyone making only a short stay here, but we must not grumble as during the present season we have already had two visits from the Howitt-Phillips Co., and the A.D.C., recently reinforced by Captain Alan Murray and Mrs. Luby, has been living up in great style to its old traditions.

SIMLA AND ITS RIVAL.

I don't know what it is, but the people in Simla are always discontented and though they turn up here year after year, it is only to hold forth on the numerous supposed disadvantages of the spot. A subaltern was heard the other night at the club to compare the charms of Simla and Mussorie, and to yield the palm to the latter, because there one could have joy-rides in rickshaws, whereas those of Simla could only seat one! Of course Simla is dull as a holiday station, more so just at present, for everyone here is hard at work and the unfortunate man whose time is his own is not to be envied.

The Army Department particularly is working its staff to death and even on Sunday staff officers get brief respite. A striking contrast to the gorgeous civilians. Ten days' leave men seem to be the only ones who thoroughly enjoy the charms of Simla. Being here for a short time and bearing still in their minds miserable thoughts of the sweltering plains these unfortunates get out of the summer capital all the fun they can. This week's downpour has entirely changed the appearance of the place, and everywhere green meets the eye. Jakko is a mass of lilies of the valley and violets. The landslip along the Ladies' Mile, to which I referred last week, has now almost been rectified, but it makes one's blood creep to go and look over the precipice, and reflect on what might have occurred if that popular bridle-way had its usual host of equestrians when the slip occurred.

Viceregal Lodge has been fairly full. Sir James Meston, Lord Suffolk and Lady Flora Poore being among the House Party. Owing to the war their Excellencies' hospitality has necessarily been somewhat restrained, but it is commonly reputed that when peace returns the Chelmsford regime will not be one w behind its predecessors so far as social splendour is concerned.

Helpful Advice to Nursing Mothers

MANY mothers would like to feed their own children, but are denied the privilege of doing so, because they have not sufficient nourishment for them. The "Allenburys" scientific system of Infant Feeding has provided for all this. When a mother is partly able to feed her baby she may give The "Allenburys" Milk Food No. 1 for alternate feeds, so alike are the natural and prepared food in this instance, and this food should be continued until the weaning process has been entirely completed. The mother herself must be well nourished and to this end may partake freely of the "Allenburys" DIET a partially predigested milk and wheaten food, which like the Milk Food No. 1, is instantly made ready for use by simply adding boiling water only. After childbirth the "Allenburys" DIET is surprisingly helpful in maintaining the strength and producing a good flow of rich milk.

LORD KITCHENER.

PROPOSED NATIONAL MONUMENT.

MR. ASQUITH'S TRIBUTE.

(Later than the Mail.)

In the House of Commons on June 23 Mr. Asquith moved a motion asking for the King's permission to raise a national monument to Lord Kitchener.

The Premier said that when he bade Lord Kitchener farewell before he left for Russia, there was no thought on either side of more than a temporary parting, but Providence in its wisdom had prepared for him a sudden release from the burden of care and toil. Those who remained, especially those who shared his counsels in the greatest emergency of our time, bowed their heads before the Supreme will, with whom were the issues of life and death Lord Kitchener in whatever environment, circumstances, or condition he might have been placed, would have been as he was, a great dominant personality. He was tried in many ordeals, and always survived the test.

Mr. Asquith said he remembered well, about a year ago, they were talking one day of the importance of promoting young officers who had distinguished themselves in the war. Lord Kitchener then mentioned that he had remained nearly ten years a subaltern. His name, continued the Premier, would be inseparably associated with that of Lord Cromer in one of the greatest achievements of our race and time—the emancipation of Egypt.

After tracing his career in South Africa, India, and Egypt again, Mr. Asquith said as War Secretary Lord Kitchener had brought to his task the same deepless energy, the same rare resourcefulness, and the same masterful personality. His career had been cut short while he was still in the full tide of his unexhausted powers and possibilities.

DEPLORED BY THE TLLIES.

Mr. Bonar Law said that at the close of the Economic Conference in Paris the other day the president, M. Clementel, paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the great soldier, amid the hush of the heartfelt sympathy of the representatives of all our Allies. Lord Kitchener's death was deplored no more in England than by our Allies. Our Army was destined to play a great part, and they hoped a decisive part, in securing that victory on which the future of our race and the well-being of the world depend. It existed as a testimony to the strength and determination of our country and also as a noble and enduring monument to the memory of the man who had created it. He had fallen, and the tide of battle still rolled on, and it was for those who remained to close their ranks, and with a single eye to secure that victory the ultimate attainment of which he had never doubted.

Mr. G. J. Wardle, on behalf of the Labour Party, said the working people of the country had the utmost respect for and confidence in Lord Kitchener. They had lost a great leader, but the work he began they would carry forward to the final and conclusive victory.

Sir Ivor Herbert also paid a tribute to the memory of the dead Field-Marshal.

Sir George Reid remarked that Lord Kitchener's end was so sudden, tragic, and mysterious that there must be a thorough investigation of the circumstances surrounding this irreparable disaster. Australia owed Lord Kitchener the priceless boon of a sound military system, and his last work for Great Britain was perhaps the greatest.

The motion was agreed to.

I know of no modern statue so completely attractive to me as Mr. Mhatre's "To the Temple."—Sir George Birdwood.

If any one doubts whether a prophet can come out of Nazareth, let him go and see this figure of a Hindu girl going to the temple. It is probably the bare truth to say that this is the best piece of sculpture tha has ever been done in India, and to any one who knows what comparatively limited opportunities this youth has had for studying sculpture, it will not appear too much to say that it is a work of genius. If any Indian chief or gentleman has a genuine desire to help a most deserving and able student and is only anxious to find some one who will do honour equally to his patron, his people, and his country, then let him give G. K. Mhatre the opportunity.—"The Times of India."

Mr. Mhatre's work is an example of what Indian genius, trained in a modern environment, can achieve, notwithstanding difficulties in the way.—"The Bombay Chronicle."

DOG TEAMS IN WAR.

FROM ALASKA TO THE VOSGES.

Mr. H. Warner Allen, the representative of the British Press with the French army, writes from the Vosges:—

Last year, when the question of transport through the mountain snow had become a matter of urgent importance, the French authorities had the idea of using dog-drawn sleighs for carrying supplies. As the result of their inquiries several hundred trained dogs from Alaska, North-western Canada, and Labrador were brought over by a French lieutenant who had spent fourteen years in Alaska. From the beginning of the year to April 21, with a short interval, the snow in the neighbourhood of the Schlucht Pass was deep enough for the dogs to be able to render yeoman service. They were able to draw heavy loads over almost inaccessible country and to supplement to a valuable extent the wheeled transport.

But with the end of the snow their utility has not ceased. They are now being harnessed to small two-foot gauge light railways, which run everywhere behind the front. Eleven dogs, with a couple of men, can carry a ton up some of the most precipitous slopes in the mountains, and I was assured that two teams of seven dogs each could do the work of five horses in this difficult country, with a very great economy of men.

The dogs were several hundred strong when they reached France, but their number has now considerably increased. There is a plentiful supply of pups of all ages and sizes, which play about happily on the mountain slopes, well within reach of the German guns. Three breeds are in service—the Alaskan, the Labrador, and the Canadian, and the best of these is the Alaskan, as his courage never fails, and he will work until he drops, though he is perhaps the weakest of them. They are all shaggy dogs, with prick ears and bushy tails, their colour ranging from black to white, between greys and browns. Their chest development, so necessary for hauling, is remarkable. Their keep costs the State but little. They are mainly fed on rice, horse flesh (of which there is abundance), and waste military biscuits, and this fare appears to suit them admirably, as they are always in splendid condition, and disease is practically unknown.

A team of seven dogs was harnessed to a make-shift truck formed of ammunition cases to take us along one of the two-foot gauge railways. It happened to be the hour of the evening meal, and the smell of the soup excited the dogs considerably. Only the leader remained superior to all such temptations, and sat solemnly in his harness. As soon as they were hitched to the truck the whole team gave tongue and began to pull with obvious delight. The truck was provided with an effective brake of a most elementary nature, working like a railway signal lever, and the team was brought up short to the order. The dogs squatted down placidly on their haunches and waited events, under the watchful eye of their leader, who was now in his element.

After we had fitted ourselves in as best we could the French officer took command of the team, and releasing the brake started us off with a hissing sound and a shout of "All right!" which produced an instant effect on the dogs. They soon got up speed, and in a few minutes we were jolting along over the rails with seven busy tails waving vigorously in front of us. The dogs obviously enjoyed pulling tremendously, as the wagging of their tails proved, and they threw all their strength into the task, especially at the moment when we were passing a motor-car that had great difficulty in making any headway at all in the muddy, stony road that ran alongside the light railway track.

CUT OFF FROM SEA TRADE.

A GERMAN GRAND ADMIRAL'S SIGNIFICANT LAMENT.

In the course of his lament to the German Navy League, Grand Admiral von Koster said:

"Unfortunately, owing to the extraordinarily unfavourable position of our coast, our enemies have succeeded in cutting us off from oversea trade. We are without a sufficiently strong Fleet abroad; without sufficiently strong points d'appui, of which our enemies have plenty; without an ally on the extended coast of the oceans. "To put this right will be the task which in future we must pursue."

POONA WOMEN'S WAR FUND.

APPEAL FOR FUNDS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

POONA, July 13.

At the invitation of Mr. Hatch, the Collector, about 100 gentlemen from Poona City and Cantonment met in the Municipal hall under the presidency of the Collector to consider the arrangements to be made for collecting funds in aid of the Poona Women's Branch of the War Relief Fund.

The Collector explained the urgent necessity for putting forth a fresh and sustained effort in order to enable the Women's Branch to continue its good work. He pointed out that the Branch spent from two to three thousand rupees every week, while its monthly income did not exceed Rs. 600. Poona had done very well at the time of the first collection in September, 1914, when Poona contributed Rs. 17,000. He again appealed to the Poona public to contribute liberally to the War Fund. In response to the appeal subscriptions were promised amounting to about Rs. 4,000.

The list of names mentioned by Major-General Townshend for gallant and distinguished service in the field from 5th October 1915 to 17th January, 1916, is gazetted. The list includes the names of 132 British officers.

THE BLACK DRESS.

ITS SUMMER POSSIBILITIES.

The Englishwoman is inclined to overlook the charm of the black dress in summer, writes "S. C. M." in the "Manchester Guardian." Even in recent years she has not accepted it with any enthusiasm, though the Parisian has shown her how attractive it can be. Yet no one can wear black so safely as a typical Englishwoman. Her fair hair and beautiful complexion are set off to perfection by the foil it provides. Some recognise the becoming qualities of black, but then they criticise it as looking "hot and dusty" on a fine day in summer. They forget how much can be done with good design and well-chosen material. Thin silks and muslins, voiles, marquisettes, and ninons always look cool, particularly if they be relieved by touches of white in collar and vest. I have even seen gaberdine rendered quite summery by its combination with fine silk voile.

Again, during the long months of this terrible war many a woman has refused to wear black unless she has lost those who are very near to her in blood or affection. The pity of that is that, by her refusal, she sets aside the most economical means of being well dressed. Her argument, which refers to the depressing effect of black, is quickly answered by pointing out the many ways of obviating all suggestion of mourning. On one of the last hot days which crowned the gifts of May I met no one who looked more suitably dressed than a woman who wore soft satin with a little fluttering tunic in fine lace. It was entirely in black, but relief was to be found in the hat, which displayed a wide ribbon in yellow, the shade of the celandine. This ribbon encircled the crown and was tied in a huge bow at the side.

On many another black dress relief is provided by touches of embroidery. Ochre yellow is a favourite colour for the purpose, and it is undoubtedly very effective. It is still modish to introduce a band of embroidery in the corsage just above the waist, and the colour there found is often repeated at the sides of the skirt—just where the pockets would be if the fashions were practical. A charming dress in fine voile and extremely fine serge is treated in this manner, the embroideries being in ochre, in a light but very effective design. The serge provides a deep hem at the bottom of the skirt, and the yellow of the embroideries is repeated in the quaint little collar which appears only at the back of the neck. The collar, of course, affords many opportunities for relief. Moreover, now that it can be of any size and any shape, the dressmaker finds it useful to give character to her simplest dresses. Wide and deep collars pure white muslin—unrelieved save by the neat little picot edge—or in dead white satin provide a striking note of freshness to many a black gaberdine. More pink velvet, too, is continually seen on the collar; but then the collar is of a different type,, being high and narrow and standing away a little from the neck. In fact, it immediately recalls the Medicals collar, from which it probably is derived. A pretty black gaberdine, cosily arranged for this chilly June, displays such a collar upon its graceful little coat. This coat is just fastened at the throat and again at the waist, thus revealing a blouse in exactly the same pink as the collar.

This dress might well be reproduced in taffetas if something cooler be desired. For black taffetas will be worn throughout the summer, even though faille and poult-de-soie are threatening to replace it. Quite simple one-piece dresses are also very charming in black taffetas. The skirt is full and slightly draped on the hips, the corsage fitting easily and cut a little decollete to reveal the dainty white vest. Nothing could be more attractive than a dress of this chaacter which Mr. G. W. Lambert has painted in one of his portraits now in the Grafton Gallery. The oblong decolletage, with its rounded corners, is outlined with the lightest of frills in white tulle edged with soft Nattier blue and a beautiful chain in beaten gold shines thrcugh this veiling of tulle. A very dainty and bright effect is thus so successfully achieved that it does not need the gay expression of the face to tell you that the choice of black was not suggested by mourning.

Many a black taffetas, too, is embroidered in dull silver or gold, or with quaint little posies of flowers in rather crude colours. These taffetas lend themselves well to the wide-hipped dresses of the hour, but they must not be treated elaborately or they become too picturesque for really good taste. One of the prettiest models I have seen is arranged with the new coat-bodice. This is draped a little in front and finished just below the waist in two points; at the back it just touches the waist. A V-shaped decolletage permits touches of soft white lace to appear, but the high collar at the back of the neck is in the taffetas unrelieved and unadorned.

A DAINTY SUMMER FROCK.

Of beige voile, the scalloped edges piped with satin of a deeper tint; the chemisetts and collar of lace.

jerseys for summer wear. These are not just sports coats, they are really too fanciful for such practical things as golf or tennis, but for wear over a pretty linen or cotton frock. One I saw was in a delicious shade of pale vieux rose, and had silk fringe to match trimming the large collar and edging the deep cuffs and long sash ends. The buttons down the front were of crystal. Another pretty idea is to use a thick silk cord for trimming. A bright green silk jersey had a flat cord to match going down the fronts, round the bottom, and round the big pockets. The collar was also outlined with cord, and big barrel-shaped wooden buttons covered with skein silk fastened the coat down the let side.

HATS, SHOES AND JERSEYS.

Hats are steadily growing larger and smaller, and if this tendency to extremes continues there will soon be no such thing as a moderately sized hat, writes Helen Newton, in the "Daily News and Leader." That will be a great pity, for there are quite a lot of women who do not look their best either in a very small hat or a very big one. But perhaps we shall be sensible enough to refuse to wear what is unbecoming, even if it is fashionable. We have improved a great deal since the war in the matter of clothes; so I am hoping there will be a big enough majority to demand the average sized hat.

THE BUSBY TRIMMING.

A new small hat that will appeal to the girl who wants to give an appearance of height to her figure is of pale saxe-blue ribbon-straw, very loosely put together, and the only trimming consists of a high "busby" mount of nigger brown marabout. The hat itself is rather on the tall side and the busby is placed in the front near the top of the crown—which gives it great height.

RIBBON LEAF TRIMMING.

The all-ribbon hat is another pretty idea for a small hat. This is not impossible to do oneself, though I should not really recommend quite so much work for an amateur milliner. A charming model which I saw was a little round hat of deep blue satin, and covering it all over—except a narrow band at the edge and a small circle at the very top—came little leaf-like tufts of folded satin ribbon in a pale shade of mole grey. It was most attractive, especially as the girl who wore it had blue eyes which almost matched the blue band of the satin above.

EXTREME TOES.

The new boots and shoes for summer wear are showing just the same note of extremes as the millinery. To be fashionable one must choose between the toe that is so short as to be almost negligible and the toe that is as long as the toe of a shoe can be. Neither to my mind is artistic, and those who agree with me will find plenty of normal-toed shoes if they do not mind being a trifle unfashionable.

FRINGED AND CORDED JERSEYS.

There are some delightful new silk
